

6.1 Feng Shui Case Study 1-Period 5 House setting

My good friend is kind enough for me to use her father's house Feng Shui inspection as a case study. This house was built a rough forty years ago; a lot of things can be predicted in this house. I have used my 'Lo Kang' to find out the actual direction and plotted the following flying star chart for your easy reference.

Period 5 setting- Sits on 181 degrees (South) and faces 1 degree (North) The first floor of the house area is as below:

Southeast Corner (Bedroom) 1 2 4	South Side (Living Area) 5 6 9	Southwest Corner (Toilet/washroom) 3 4 2
East Side (Living Area) 2 3 3	Center of the House (Living Room) 9 1 5	West Side (Storeroom) 7 8 7
Northeast Corner (Living Room) 6 7 8	North Corner (Main Door) 4 5 1	Northwest Corner (Kitchen) 8 9 6

Mountain Star in Charge of Person while Water Star in charge of Wealth

My analysis

First observation:

I've told my friend that accordingly to flying star analysis, this is an auspicious house setting with Good Mountain and Good Water stars located at its ideal sectors. But the surrounding topography with slightly bad mountains and without clear water was found as a result a set-back on this auspicious setting.

The truth: The owner does not have to worry about financial situation and gave birth to 5 sons and daughters since moved into this house. Even the first son had given birth to his first born in this house ten years ago.*

2nd Observation:

The Northwest sector 896 flying stars orientation in kitchen affected the relationship of son and father.

The truth: The eldest in was on constant arguments with father and left the house numerous times after big 'fight' with father. Only after both moved out from this house to find their relationship became better.*

3rd Observation:

The southeast corner 124 flying stars orientation in the bedroom (parents) will result in scholars, or writers alike.

The truth: My client's father was a well dressed scholar that often writes column on his spare time.*

4th Observation

The southwest sector of 342 flying stars orientation with toilet and washroom located here will lessen the arguments among family members except the elder son.

The truth: A healthy and harmony family members with the exception of the elder son and father's relationships. (Refer 2nd observation)*
