Yin Earth Stem is being hibernated in the Yin Earth Branch.

In Spring Season: Spring is heavy in Wood that directly destructs the Earth energies. However since the Yang Wood energy intercourse with Yin Earth, the situation is not as bad as it appears. Bad only on surface but good things are in the making.

Period time frame: Feb 4th till May 4th

Translation: Economy is 'stale', this could lead to a monotonous in both the economy and housing prices, nevertheless since the spring Wood is rather heavy, and the Wood energies would prevent the housing prices from going up. February is better than March and on surface it is bad for both March and April. But good things are in the making and be patient to reap the reward in autumn.

In Summer Season: Summer is heavy in Fire that creates more Earth energies but drain the water energies from the wet earth.

Period time frame: May 5th till August 6th

Translation: The situation either on surface or reality is getting better but nothing outstanding yet since Fire destruct metal and drains away the Water energies from the earth. Silver lighting is felt and things will turn much better in autumn. But on political front, there could be chaotic or grievances among countries leaders.

In Autumn Season: Autumn is heavy in Metal that conducive for wet water to produce even more metal. Watch out Metal industry...it is your COMMAND!!

Period time frame: August 7th till November 6th

Translation: Economy would be ignited in many ways, the metal related industry will outshine others and the backbone of the industry especially Financial markets are picking steam and the world stock markets are on the run.

Period time frame: November 7th till February 3rd

In Winter Season: Winter is heavy in Water that Yin Earth would simply act 'go with the flow' and since the wet earth would also act as 'peer' that go along with the current flow of energy.

Translation: Finally the housing prices move up and up and we see the 'warm' in this winter for everyone.

This reading is done base on the yearly stem and it will change from time to time when circumstances change or dictate.
