

with great power, comes great responsibility

I-Ching & The World of Metaphysics

Date: March 15th 2009

Visit to Long Ku Tan, Tuen Mun

It is unwise to act like a real master when you are only half barrel full. Mind you ancient Master or scholar always do not write down their essence of techniques for two reasons, one, they often oral teach the essence to disciples and, they afraid that such techniques might be on the hand of the bad-hearted people. God knows the real essence, but that's always one way we can find out, that's to study the ancient tombs done by prominent masters. Such works cannot be camouflaged and have to be authentic. Their skills and their texts could have differences but only the works (tombs site) can be trusted. The core of the text is to narrow down the focus on the Xuan Kong techniques.

A Ching Era Ancient Tombstone-approximately 200 over years old

But it took us 45 minutes through the hard trail before reaching to the site.

The trails were challenging and at times dangerous

The area is surrounded by hilly areas but surprisingly the topographical scenes were not as good as I expected.

It is believed that this ancient tomb breeds multimillionaire in the region.

Kerbykuek@gmail.com

